One to five day experiences at Twitter HQ

We’re hosting interactive on-site events for historically underrepresented students in computer science. Participants will participate in hands-on technical workshops, professional development seminars, meet with senior leaders, engage with our Employee Resource Groups (ERGs), and explore career opportunities at Twitter.

#FirstFlight
October 25-26, San Francisco
Applications due September 30
A two-day program for third year students who identify as black, Hispanic/Latinx, and/or Native American. All selected participants will interview on day two of the program for internship opportunities.

#EarlyBird
May 20-24, San Francisco
Applications due April 1
A five-day program for first year computer science students who identify as black, Hispanic/Latinx, and/or Native American.

#TechProud
June 6-7, San Francisco
Applications due April 1
A one-day program for second year computer science students who identify as LGBTQIA.

#DevelopHER
June 3-4, San Francisco
Applications due April 1
A one-day program for second year computer science students who identify as women.

#TwitterAcademy Internship
Summer 2019, San Francisco
Applications due November 4
Twitter Academy is a paid 12-week summer internship program designed for historically underrepresented second-year computer science students interested in gaining hands-on and real-life experience in the tech industry.

#PublicPolicy Fellowship
San Francisco & Washington, DC
Applications due November 9
Public Policy Fellowship is a paid 6-month program designed for 1st and 2nd year graduate level women and/or historically underrepresented (black, Hispanic/Latinx, and/or Native American) students passionate about advocacy of public policy solutions to pressing high technology issues.