

Internship Program

#TernUP Your Career

The Twitter Internship Program is a 12-week experience for undergraduate and graduate students to gain direct exposure to the day-to-day of the company. From engineering, to marketing, and finance, we welcome students from all educational backgrounds with various professional interests to apply.

#Impact

When you log into Twitter, you'll likely see a feature shipped by one of our interns. All of our interns have a hand in building a product that's changing the world. You're given the freedom to take risks and the ability to use your knowledge to solve challenging problems.

#Growth

All interns receive a manager, mentor, feedback sessions, and engaging projects to make an impact. We host several educational and developmental events for exposure to the organization, executives, and Business Resource Groups (BRGs).

#Community

From Day 1, you will have a sense of community amongst your intern cohort while attending #InternFlightSchool together. Interns are given the opportunity to network at many intern social events including #InternForGood volunteer opportunities.

#Perks

- Competitive pay
- Housing Stipend
- Flight Reimbursement
